Taxpayers hot at county equalizer public hearing

What was billed as a public hearing for a proposed tax equalizer for Antioch Township, turned out to be more of a tax protest as about 120 Antioch Township residents participated in a hearing held at the county courthouse, Waukegan.

Residents took advantage of the hearing to sound off about everything from rising taxes to unimproved roads and flooding in a session which featured 65 residents registering to present formal testimony.

BUT IN THE end, Antioch Township can expect to have 1.2181 multiplier applied to its assessed valuation. That is the second highest in Lake County, followed only by Newport Township.

Members of the Lake County Board of Review presented figures it had developed to support the proposed multiplier. Multipliers are added by the county to figures from every one of the 18 townships in Lake County in an effort to insure that all residents are paying their fair share of the taxes.

Ellen A. Furtkamp, chairman of the board of review, told the gathering that the board was only carrying out its duties as outlined by state statutes. Failure for them to apply multipliers and hold hearings could result in their being removed from office and going to jail.

"IF YOU DON'T like the idea of a multiplier, then call your legislators. Tell them to get the board of review out of the equalizer business. Tell them to get the state out of the equalizer business. Tell them to fund the schools."

"They have to respond to you. You're the

Branwell ordered to hospital

Dr. Donald F. Branwell was ordered by Circuit Judge Harry Strouse to be sent to Forest Hospital in Des Plaines for observation after being held at the Lake County Jail on a murder charge. The decision came Jan. 10 after a request from his attorney, Charles Wilson III.

Branwell is charged with the murder of his friend and fellow dentist, Dr. Richard Kueltzo, whose body was found by Antioch Police in a lowland area off Drexel Rd. on Jan. 5.

Kueltzo, 26, practiced dentistry at an office located on Rte. 83 in Antioch. Kueltzo was known for performing magic tricks for young patrons at his office.

Branwell, who was an associate with Dr. Tony Urban, who would not talk to News reporters, had his office in the Orchard Dental Center in Antioch.

He was a large but quiet man, and was described by acquaintances as an easy going, and certainly was never "expected to be capable of committing a crime that he did."

Branwell faces being returned to court after observation at Forest.

Good news in The News

Glenda Tomaschik, director of the Antioch Parks and Recreation, will be looking into the possibility of starting a youth restitution program for youth involved in crime of Antioch Township. She, along with Police Chief Chuck Miller and Supt. of Public Works, Walt Shepard, will work in conjunction with the Lake County Juvenile Court to take only cases that the court sees fit to pay for their crime through this program. The work program is part of a county-wide effort to set youth on the right track.

Township's meeting fields many questions

One thing that can't be said about Antioch Township residents is that they are apathetic. The past two weeks were filled with meetings about the county's proposed equalizer that would raise the valuations of properties in the township. All the individual meetings held throughout the week, culminated with a hearing at 11 a.m. on Jan. 10, held in the County Building in Waukegan where county representatives answered questions Antioch Township residents raised.

On the same day, the township held its regular board meeting in the township offices, and it wasn't just business as usual. About 35 residents turned out for that meeting to still ask questions about how their tax monies are being spent.

According to Dave Heath, township board member, the meeting did answer some questions for the township residents. "There were representatives there from the school system and the district that fielded questions, although unofficially, and satisfied many people," Heath said. The good thing about the resident persistence, he added, is that they will get answers from the varying governing bodies about where their money is being spent.

It is important to residents that face the higher valuation of their property to realize that although the assessment of their property is higher, taxes don't necessarily have to escalate. It is their responsibility to ask the respective governments where their money is being spent — a responsibility it looks like Antioch Township residents are very aware of.

Fire, rescue move to new facility

There is a healthy amount of "musical buildings" going on in the municipal buildings in downtown Antioch. Actually, the buildings aren't going anywhere, but the people inside them are pulling some switches.

With the new fire and rescue building completed, both the fire and rescue departments finally have a new home located on the corner of Turner and Orchard Sts. The building, which was built with the future in mind, has offices for the chief, fire prevention, a radio room, a training and meeting room, a lounge and offices for the officers of the fire department.

For the rescue squad, there is a radio room, lounge and locker area.

Both departments have room for more trucks than there are right now, and each have a separate garage for equipment.

The building is energy efficient with timers on the heating system which keep the building regulated as to the use.

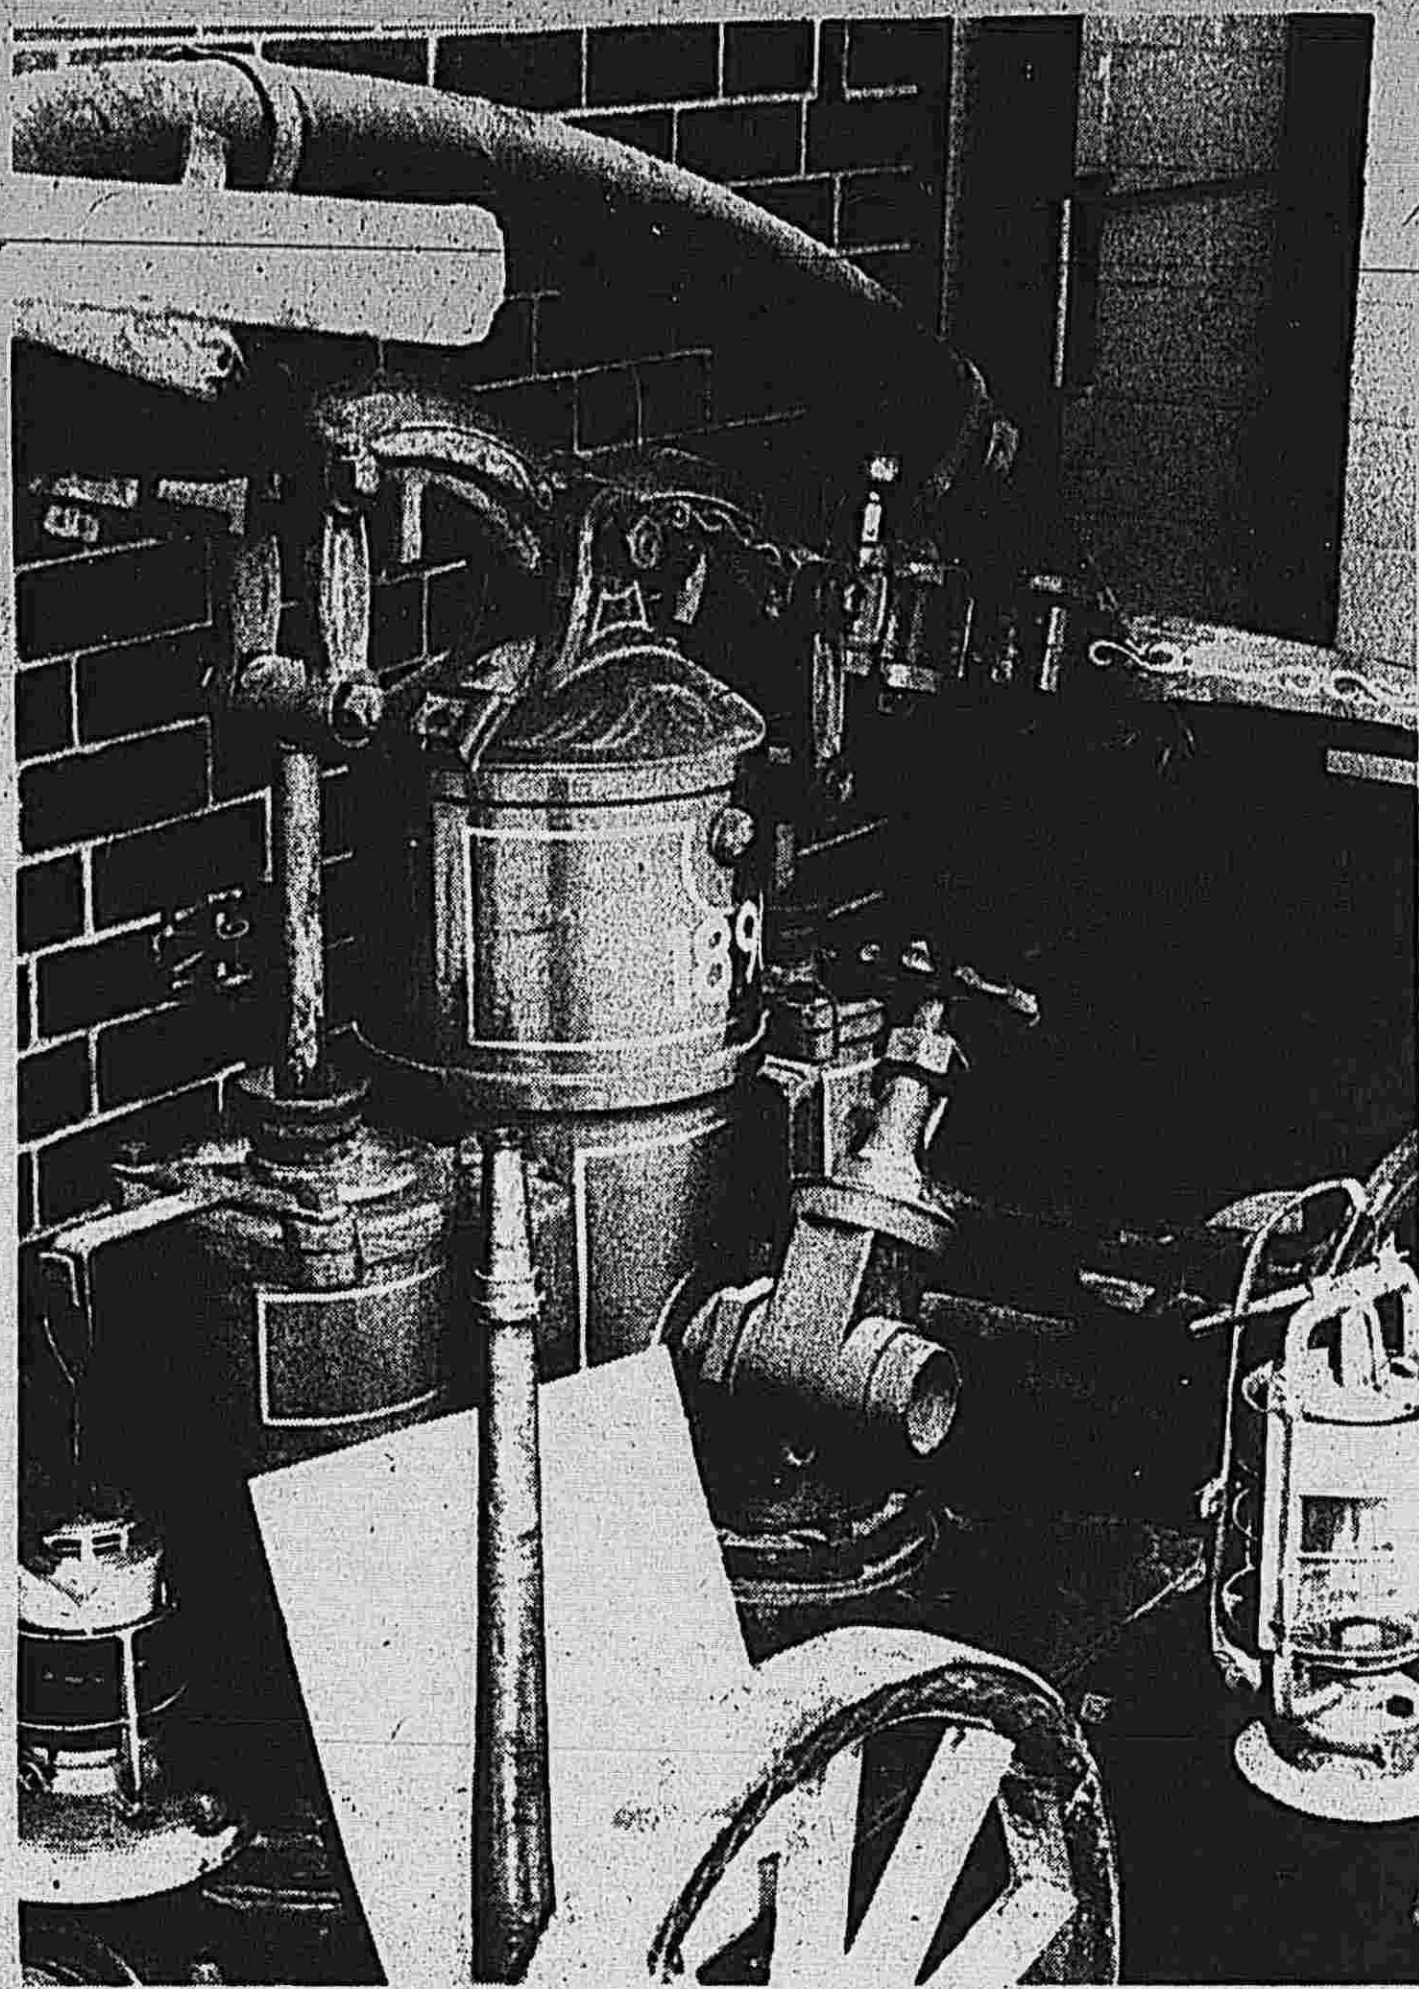

There is room for expansion with an unfinished room for living quarters when firefighting in the Antioch area becomes a fulltime job.

The old fire house will serve two purposes. First, the police department is expanding and using the old rescue building for squad cars and a locker room. There will be access to the building from the back parking lot, which according to Lt. Tom Fisher will be easier when prisoners are in custody. Also, there will be more office space for the department.

The old fire house will be used by the department of parks and recreation to hold classes in. Director Glenda Tomaschik is happy to get the space. "We sure do need a place for the programs we have, and this is so convenient," she said.

REPAIR

The Antioch Department of Public Works will fix a water meter at 397 Poplar. The meter is located on the outside of an apartment building and was vandalized. The cost of the repair will be $35.

HISTORICAL TOUCH — The new Antioch Fire and Rescue building at Orchard and Turner Sts., has a front display window with an old pumper used in the 1890's. Also, the window displays different types of nozzles used throughout the years. The window is just one of the features the new building has. According to Fire Chief Tod Maplethorpe, the village should be scheduling an open house. — Photo by Lisa Wilkie.

VETSPAY

The Veterans Administration will pay a record $566 million in dividends during 1980 to 4.1 million veterans holding GI life insurance policies, Donald R. Ramsey, director of the VA regional office in Chicago reported.

News want ad rates are slashed

Antioch News readers, utilizing the classified advertising section, will find next time they place an ad in The News that advertising rates have been slashed in half.

In the past, low want ad advertising rates have paid for the appearance of word rate classified ads in two consecutive issues of The Antioch News.

That low rate has now been slashed in half, with each ad appearing just one time. The new one-time, low rate is $1.50 for 12 words in The News.

"So many people were finding that they would sell their merchandise or get the required response off an Antioch News classified ad the first time it ran, that there was no need to run the ad the following issue," explained Classified Advertising Manager Gail Robinson.

"The new rate of $1.50 represents a savings of $1.50 over the two-week rate," Mrs. Robinson explained. Advertisers who would like to run their ad for two consecutive weeks, may still do so at the same rate of $3."

The new $1.50 rate applies to the first 12 words of any word rate ad. An additional 15 cents will be charged for each additional word.

The Antioch News' trained advertising representatives will help you effectively word your classified word rate ad. For more information contact the Antioch News office, 395-5755, or 395-4121.

AARP braves snow, offered get dental discount

Despite the cold and icy roads, 110 men and women attended the first meeting for 1980 of Antioch Chapter 387 of AARP last Tuesday, Jan. 8, at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Antioch. Four new members and one guest were welcomed.

Cake and coffee preceded the short business meeting.

Dr. Robert T. Sven, a dentist from the Antioch Dental Clinic, 439 Lake St., invited the members to an oral cancer screening. He will examine the tongue, cheeks, lips, throat, dental appliances and consult with them for no charge, from 9 a.m.-noon on Wednesday, Jan. 23. The whole procedure shouldn't take more than five minutes. If any work is needed, he will give a 15 percent discount to all those who received a card at the meeting. They just have to show it to the receptionist when they pay their bill. If a x-ray of the region of the mouth, taken at the rear of the head is requested or needed, it will be done for half price, $12.50. Several members signed a sheet for their appointment time that day. Anyone who didn't receive a discount card, should see Esther Aiani, president of the chapter.

Mrs. Aiani was a patient at Victory Memorial Hospital for 10 days after Christmas. She attended the January meeting but John Wenclawski, second vice president conducted the meeting. The first vice president, Clarence Spiering, had an eye transplant the day before. Other hospital patients were Lawrence Klimas of Lake Villa and Arthur Striker of Antioch.

Wenclawski reported that the chapter's charter has been extended another three years.

HELEN HOLKA, secretary, read the names of the merchants, who donated items for the Christmas party. A total of 1,024 gifts were given out at the Dec. 11 party at the Country House in Antioch. Mrs. Aiani received a standing ovation for the lovely party.

Members were invited to attend the Jan. 18 Bi-State Council meeting to be held at Andre's Restaurant in Richmond. Reservations were taken at a cost of $5 each.

Letters were received from several of the families that received the bags of groceries donated by the AARP members, helping them to have a little merrier Christmas.

Wenclawski, legislative chairman, asked someone from Illinois to volunteer to be legislative chairman for Illinois. He covers Wisconsin, also. He could do a better job if he just had the one state to cover.

A check was received from Mr. Bill Brook of the State Bank of Antioch to be used for the needs of the chapter. Mrs. Aiani read a copy of the thank you note she sent him.

Glen Peterson, program chairman, said he wasn't planning any trips until the weather warms up. A film will be shown at the Jan. 22 meeting.

Irma Broadment, refreshment chairperson, asked several members to bring egg salad, tuna, bread and cakes for the next meeting.

All older Americans, 55 and over, who are members of the National Association of AARP, are eligible to join the local chapter. Meetings are held starting at 11 a.m. on the second and fourth Tuesday of every month in the basement of St. Peter's Church in Antioch. Lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee, boxed chicken or a potluck is served at the meetings. The first Tuesday meeting is a business meeting while the second is a social gathering when games, speakers, films or other entertainment is provided. Trips and theatre-dinner outings are held on non-meeting days, and only members in good standing are eligible to attend at the reduced rates. National dues are $4 a year and local dues are $2 a year per person, payable now.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Boy oh boy, I sure can't keep up with all the changes going on on the news staff. I see where there is a new editor working on everyone's favorite hometown NEWSpaper. Hope that she can handle all the news that fits. Heard she made her debut at a Rotary meeting and walked right into a post. Now it's okay to do absent-minded things like that when you get as old as me, but a youngster like that...I don't know. Good luck Leslie, I mean Lisa.

Speaking of Rotary, the next time you run into Art Nickerman, Dave Zickus or Kenny Clark, ask if they've brewed any coffee in the machines they won on Jan. 10. Chances are they'll invite you over for a cup—what was that I heard about sharing with the poor?

Don't get the idea that the Rotary doesn't do anything but goof around. They will be hosting 50 families that will be attending the international 75th anniversary of the Rotary to be held this year in June in Chicago. The visitors will tour area businesses while they are here.

A couple milestones I ought to mention and offer congratulations on. Jan. 23 will find Mary McCann turning 80. I remember her from when she taught grade school—she's a life-long resident here, and I salute her.

Also, Valentine McCush celebrated his birthday Jan. 2 and participated in the weekly senior citizen's bowl at Antioch Bowl. The seniors bowl regularly on Wednesday and Friday, and on Jan. 4, Val rolled a 459 series. Sure wouldn't mind having him on my team!

Speaking of recovering, I was so sorry to hear that Irenne Gable will have to postpone plans for joining the literary circles. The last time I saw her, she was real excited about finally having the time to compile facts and feelings about her many activities throughout the years, and put them into book form. I guess she must have been too excited, for she skated with her grandkids out on Loon Lake a couple weeks ago and fell and broke her arm. And leave it to Irenne to break her writing arm! Anyway, she's resting real well while waiting for the bones to mend.

She mentioned that a young man named Mike rescued her on the lake after she fell. He was driving a snowmobile and piloted her to shore, and she said that she wanted to send out a special thanks. Good luck Irenne, and I'll be watching the bookstands!

If anybody ever goes by the Masonic building on Main St. in Antioch on the second Wednesday evening of the month, they would think that there were mice nibbling away at the walls. In actuality, it's just the Woodchippers Club, a group of carvers that spend a couple hours there creating works of art from wood. Some beautiful things, too—they even have a show later on in the year at an area mall.

Everyone be on the lookout for good spring programs to be offered by the Antioch Parks and Rec Department. Glenda and Dee work so hard to keep different activities and classes available to everyone, and hopefully, people will take advantage of these programs.

Can't sign off until I say that I'm so glad the suspense is finally over. The recipients of the Jaycee's annual Distinguished Citizen Award have finally been announced. Congratulations to all the great young citizens of Antioch, and especially to the six that were selected from the many entries. Mark Feb. 2 on your calendar as the evening of fun in their honor. I know I'll be there.

Special hello to some faithful friends up north. Glad to hear their daughter's finally settled with a new opportunity for the new year.

Two Antioch residents could still use some cheer at Victory Memorial Hospital. Both Russ Fairchild and Nora Miller are recovering from surgery. They're in rooms 580 and 574 respectively. Hope to see them up and at 'em, soon.

Jaycees to hold shooting safety class

The Antioch Jaycees will again conduct the National Jaycee Shooting Education Program beginning Feb. 4.

The program, open to boys and girls between the ages of eight to 14, is co-sponsored by the U.S. Jaycees and Daisy.

Features of this community program are: proper gun handling; firearm safety; shooting teams and competition; and education for a lifetime recreation sport.

Craig Dayton, chairman of the project, announced that the educational program will be held at the Antioch Lower Grade School, Main and Depot Sts., each Monday and Thursday evening beginning at 6:30 p.m. and concluding at 7:30 p.m. The program will run for seven lessons and parents are encouraged to attend and watch their children learn.

Jay Bruski, program instructor, said "There will be no charge to participants. We are running this as a community service project. We will be using Daisy air rifles for training the young shooters. Specially designed rifles have been made to fit the younger shooters," he said.

At the conclusion of this program, the Antioch Jaycees will select a shooting team from this class and the class this past fall to compete in the Illinois State Shooting Education Championship Match beginning in April.

For more information about this program call Jay Bruski evenings at 395-5047. For more information about the Jaycees call Ray Utterback at 395-2700.

Tomaschtk speaks on spring programs

Antioch Parks and Recreation Department director, Glenda Tomaschtk was featured speaker at the Rotary's Thursday luncheon meeting, Jan. 10.

Ms. Tomaschtk informed the group about the programs the department offers and the budgeting needed to keep the department going.

She stated that her position was unique in that she worked with two boards. "There is a commission that I work very closely with, and then we take our ideas before the village board," she said.

Ms. Tomaschtk also explained the success of certain projects and the shortcomings of others. "We are looking into a restitution program for the youth in the Antioch community involved in breaking laws. It's a positive thing that would really help the community," she said.

Ms. Tomaschtk also stated that the public is sometimes not aware of the role the parks play in the community. "When tax time comes around, the park department is the first to suffer because many people think it's an unnecessary part of the village's structure. Many fail to realize that the parks are really an important aspect of the village," she stated.

Antioch High's Wells qualifies for seminar

Ed Wells, Antioch High School sophomore, has been selected by the Antioch High School faculty to be a candidate for the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation International Seminar to be held in Los Angeles July 5-12.

Wells, who is the son of Richard and Mary Wells of Antioch, is active in 4-H, jazz and marching band, German club, karate and the math league. He was a 4-H Illinois honor member.

To become a candidate for this award, a student must show outstanding qualities of leadership, desire to learn and share knowledge with others, show sensitivity and concern for others. Also, the candidate must show composure for the interviewing process he or she must go through.

Wells now must be selected to attend the state seminar from which two entries will be chosen to attend the international seminar.

The seminar is held to teach youngsters about the American free enterprise system of the United States. O'Brian, an actor, started the foundation to show teens that incentive and opportunity are the basis of success. O'Brian was an orphan, and rose to success through perseverance and the opportunities that the United States offered him.

The topic of this year's national seminar is America's incentive system.

WILL BURYING NUCLEAR WASTE BURY US ALL?

It's enough to strike fear in anyone's heart. Nuclear waste, by-product of every reactor in the world, radioactive for tens of thousands of years, lying there like some malevolent genie in a bottle waiting to be let loose.

That's what the future of commercial nuclear power hinges on. What do we do with the waste? Where on earth is it safe? Can burying it really keep it from coming back to kill us?

No matter what you've heard, there are answers. Solutions exist. Now.

One is reprocessing. Dissolving spent fuel rods in a strong acid, then separating out the plutonium and leftover uranium for reuse. It leaves just four percent of the total to bury. And in six hundred years, that four percent won't contain any more radioactivity than all the uranium ore mined to make the fuel in the first place.

Now, if six hundred years still sounds like an eternity, consider the process called vitrification. In plain English, that means immobilizing the waste. Actually turning it into a piece of solid glass. Inert, chemically stable glass, enclosed in a steel jacket an inch thick and buried.

Really buried. A good two thousand feet down in a bone-dry salt bed or granite formation whose very existence means it hasn't been disturbed by groundwater or an earthquake in at least ten million years. And in all probability, won't be for millions more.

But what if? If there were a quake. If the shifting earth drowned the site in a river of water. If the steel jacket ripped apart. If the glass inside were exposed to the current for ages to come. If somehow, in some inexplicable way, though glass is highly insoluble in water, it still managed to dissolve. And the water, though separated from the surface by two thousand feet of rock and soil, still managed to find a way up.

If all that happened, against all odds, the very volume of water would dilute the dissolved waste even further. And the slow flow (groundwater travels less than a hundred yards a year) would give the radioactivity remaining more than enough time to decay to about the same level as the background radiation we're exposed to all the time.

None of that is a pipedream. It's fact. Documented fact. Spelled out again and again in countless government reports and independent studies. Proven again and again in exhaustive tests and pilot projects (in England, France, Germany, Sweden and Canada, as well as Kansas, Nevada and Washington State). And almost universally accepted by the scientific and technical community world-wide.

What's more, there are literally thousands of square miles of salt beds and granite formations under America, and only a few square miles could easily hold every ounce of high-level waste generated by all our nuclear power plants put together. Not to mention the eighty million gallons stored up in the thirty-five years our country has been making atomic weapons.

The only problem we haven't solved yet is how to get the show on the road.

We can't reprocess because the government won't okay it. Despite the knowledge that every pound of plutonium we salvage not only leaves one less to bury, but also can produce as much energy as seven hundred fifty tons of coal or one hundred thirty thousand gallons of oil.

And we can't bury what we've already got, even though doing it safely doesn't depend on reprocessing, because Congress gave the government a monopoly on permanent storage back in 1970. And despite the weight of affirmative evidence, it hasn't acted yet.

The problem is, if all seventy-two nuclear power plants in the United States vanished tomorrow, nuclear waste wouldn't. There's still a lot sitting around, and less than one percent of it is from power plants. Remember, years of nuclear weapons production have amassed eighty million gallons, and there's more coming.

Isn't it time we laid the problem to rest?

Grant funds give forest preserve Gander Mountain

The Lake County Forest Preserve District has just received notice of approval of $885,250 in federal grant funds for land acquisition and development.

In announcing the awards, District President Don Strenger stressed that they are of particular significance to Lake County. "I am especially pleased that the larger of the two awards, $750,000, will enable the Forest Preserve District to purchase one of the outstanding natural areas in Lake County, Gander Mountain," he said. "I am especially pleased that this opportunity has arrived during my tenure as President, as I have long believed Gander Mountain to be one of the finest properties anywhere for a forest preserve."

Strenger described Gander Mountain as the highest point in Lake County. "It offers a view of two states and four counties, and has numerous natural features found nowhere else in the area," he said.

He also noted that the property will most likely be used "for its outstanding asset, conservation and wildlife habitat improvement." He said, however, that the many steep slopes on the site also provide potential for an excellent winter sports area as well.

Land Acquisition Committee Chairman Rolland Sandee confirmed Strenger's assessment of Gander Mountain. "This property is one of the ten original forest preserve sites chosen by the District in 1959. Now at last we'll have the funds to set it aside for preservation and public enjoyment," Sandee said. Sandee also noted that Gander Mountain's central feature is its greatest potential for conservation work. "This is definitely a site to which the name 'forest preserve' fits perfectly," he added.

The district will use the other grant funds, $135,250 for development work. Development and Planning Committee Chairman Paul Gerst stated that these monies will help construct the first phase of a county-wide multi-use recreational trail along the Des Plaines River corridor. "This trail, when completed, will form the backbone of the District's recreation features," said Gerst. "It will unite the trails in the Cook County Forest Preserves with those in Wisconsin." Gerst noted that the first section of trail will be built in Newport Township, just south of Van Patter Woods.

The source for these grant funds is the federally-sponsored Land and Water Conservation Fund. This fund is distributed yearly to local agencies such as the Forest Preserve District through state-level conservation departments.

Sequoits suffer fifth; Andrews still hopeful

In a game riddled with turnovers on both sides, the Antioch Sequoits suffered their fifth straight loss. The 60-55 final score came at the hands of Stevenson at Prairie View on Jan. 11. The loss drops the Sequoits to 2-4 in the NWSC and 5-8 overall.

The Patriots, the only undefeated team in conference play, led the game at the half, 31-20. According to Coach Roger Andrews, the Sequoits had 19 of their game total 29 turnovers in that first half. "We came back good in the second half, but those turnovers really hurt us," he said.

In the second half, the Sequoits only got within five points of Stevenson, and although John Ploss and Tim Koesser came off the bench to score 18 and 10 points respectively, it just wasn't enough. "Ploss was credited for 10 rebounds, also, but we just couldn't put it together," Andrews said.

RON NAUMAN LED the Sequoit scorers with 23 points, while they were without the services of outside shooter, Kurt Selak. "Selak's out with a sprained ankle, and we missed his outside shooting," Andrews said.

The Sequoits will face the Warren Blue Devils, who are 2-4 in the NWSC and 4-11 overall, on home court at 8 p.m. this Friday, and on Jan. 20 meet at Lake Forest in non-conference play.

According to Andrews, "Hopefully our up and down play will turn into consistency, and we'll start coming out on top of these games."

Sequoit grapplers take three over weekend

The Varsity Wrestling Sequoits went three for four over the weekend as they bested Stevenson 55-6 on Friday night, defeated Wheeling 29-18 and Rockford Harlem 34-22 on Saturday but fell to Highland Park 39-23.

Stevenson was no match as the Sequoits won eleven of the twelve weights with no match closer than Ted Bessette's 2-0 win at 185 lbs. Falls were recorded by Dave Unrein 112, Jon Gibson 126, Jeff Canella 138, Chuck Bogaerts 155 and Bill Carney 167. Stevenson is Antioch's third victim in the Northwest Suburban conference and the conference record is 3-0.

Saturday, Antioch traveled to Wheeling and met the host Wildcats, Rockford Harlem and Highland Park in an exciting triple dual. After defeating Wheeling and Rockford Harlem, Antioch and Highland Park met in a meet that saw many pointed matches and five pins, but Highland Park scored three of the pins and came away a 39-23 winner.

Over the weekend Tad DeRousse won three and tied one while Dave Unrein, 112, and Jon Gibson, 126, won all four to pace the Sequoits.

Antioch travels to Warren Friday night to challenge the Blue Devils at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday the Sequoits host Glenbrook North and Palatine at noon.

Biggest, richest derby at Channel Lake Feb. 9, 10

The annual running of the biggest and richest ice fishing derby and winter festival prize, in the state of Illinois, sponsored by the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and Antioch's 885 Civic Club jointly, will take place on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 9 and 10, on the south end of Channel Lake off of Rte. 173, three miles west of Antioch.

Well over $5,000 in prizes are already in at derby headquarters as prizes continue to come in from various donors.

Top prize in the long list is a $1,000 and $500 savings bond along with a Jiffy Power Ice Auger, His and Her Down Vests, Knipco Portable Heater, $100 gift certificate, Garcia Ambassador Rod & Reel Set, Refrigerator Coverall and Down Vest, Lews Speed Stick and Speed Reel, Schwinn 10 Speed Bike, Hitachi AC/DC TV, Bulova Digital Watch, Savage Model 24, 22-410, Charming Gas Grill Model 930, Eureka Ice Fishing Tent, Mighty Mac Down Coat, and Cilva Skyline Cross Country Ski Package.

An exciting feature of the two day festival will be the First Annual Soft Ball Tournament.

Other events in the program include sack races, three legged races, ice augering and egg throwing competition and for the very young children, 2,000 pennies, plus nickels, dimes and quarters hidden in a bale of straw.

All the events will be run on both derby days and prizes will be given on the two days. The derby starts at 9 a.m. with the first fish judging at 10:00 a.m. and every hour the rest of the day, closing at 4 p.m.

Main entrance to the lake and derby site is through Mr. D's Playmore Resort, where there is acres of free parking.

Residents, businessman hot voters," said the chairman.

"We should go to Springfield. We've missed the boat. We've remained quiet and they increase the taxes year after year," said resident Carl Campbell.

Antioch Realtor Michael Warren challenged the figures used by the county.

And in fact, except for the possibility of a few cases, the equalizer question was cut and dried prior to the hearing with reams of computer printouts and figures supporting the board of review's position.

Despite the fact that the equalizer for 1979 taxes seems pre-destined, there is still hope for individual properties. The Antioch Township equalizer is based on bringing all properties in the county in line with an assessment which is 25 percent of the real value of the property.

Any property owner who can prove that the assessed valuation of their property is above that 25 percent figure will be reviewed by the board of review and possibly adjusted.

A report filed by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry outlines sales prices of 17 commercial properties sold in the past three years which illustrate that the assessed valuation of that property is about 29 percent of the market value. Adoption of a separate equalizer for commercial property has been approved in the past.

Testimony was also submitted showing that homes in the Village Green subdivision are already assessed at the required level. The home sales there reportedly show a median assessed valuation of 24.5 percent of the sales value and a mean assessed valuation of 24.9 percent of the sales value.

To apply a plus multiplier on top of these figures could mean an additional tax burden on those properties.

When the multiplier is approved, residents should check it against the assessed valuation of their property. If they feel it is out of line, they have 30 days from date of publication to file a petition to appeal.

Mild winter savings for public works

Although many winter sports enthusiasts are cursing the lack of snow and ice this winter, there are people that look on the mild weather the Antioch area is experiencing as a time to save money and catch up on work.

Superintendent of public works in Antioch, Walt Shepard, is one person that is thankful for the "dry" spell this year. "The last three winters have been so bad," he stated. "Last year we had all the snow, and the two years before that, the temperatures were so extremely cold that that created problems."

Shepard added that there was no way to put a monetary value on the savings due to the snowless, warm winter.

"The savings is in many ways, not just money not spent for road salt," he said. "We've saved in overtime, manpower, wear on the equipment, the heating of municipal buildings and fuel consumption is down between 25 and 30 percent," Shepard said.

Also, according to Shepard, the mild weather will give employees a chance to catch up on "inside" work. "The walls have to be painted every now and then," he said.

He also pointed out that with the frost not being so severe, the road breakup in the spring wouldn't be so bad. "Last year the frost line was five feet deep, and we had all kinds of problems with the roads breaking up in the spring," he said.

"The ice has just been suitable for, skating and we're hoping that the temperatures don't dip too low," Shepard added.

"We sure deserve a break in the weather after the last few years," he said.

Frosh-clip Patriots

Antioch's freshmen basketball team remained undefeated in conference play by clipping the Stevenson Patriots 42-33 last Saturday. Antioch is now 6-0 in the conference and 8-3 overall.

Tom Anderson was leading scorer with 15 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Chris Becker added 10 points and dominated the boards with 16 rebounds.

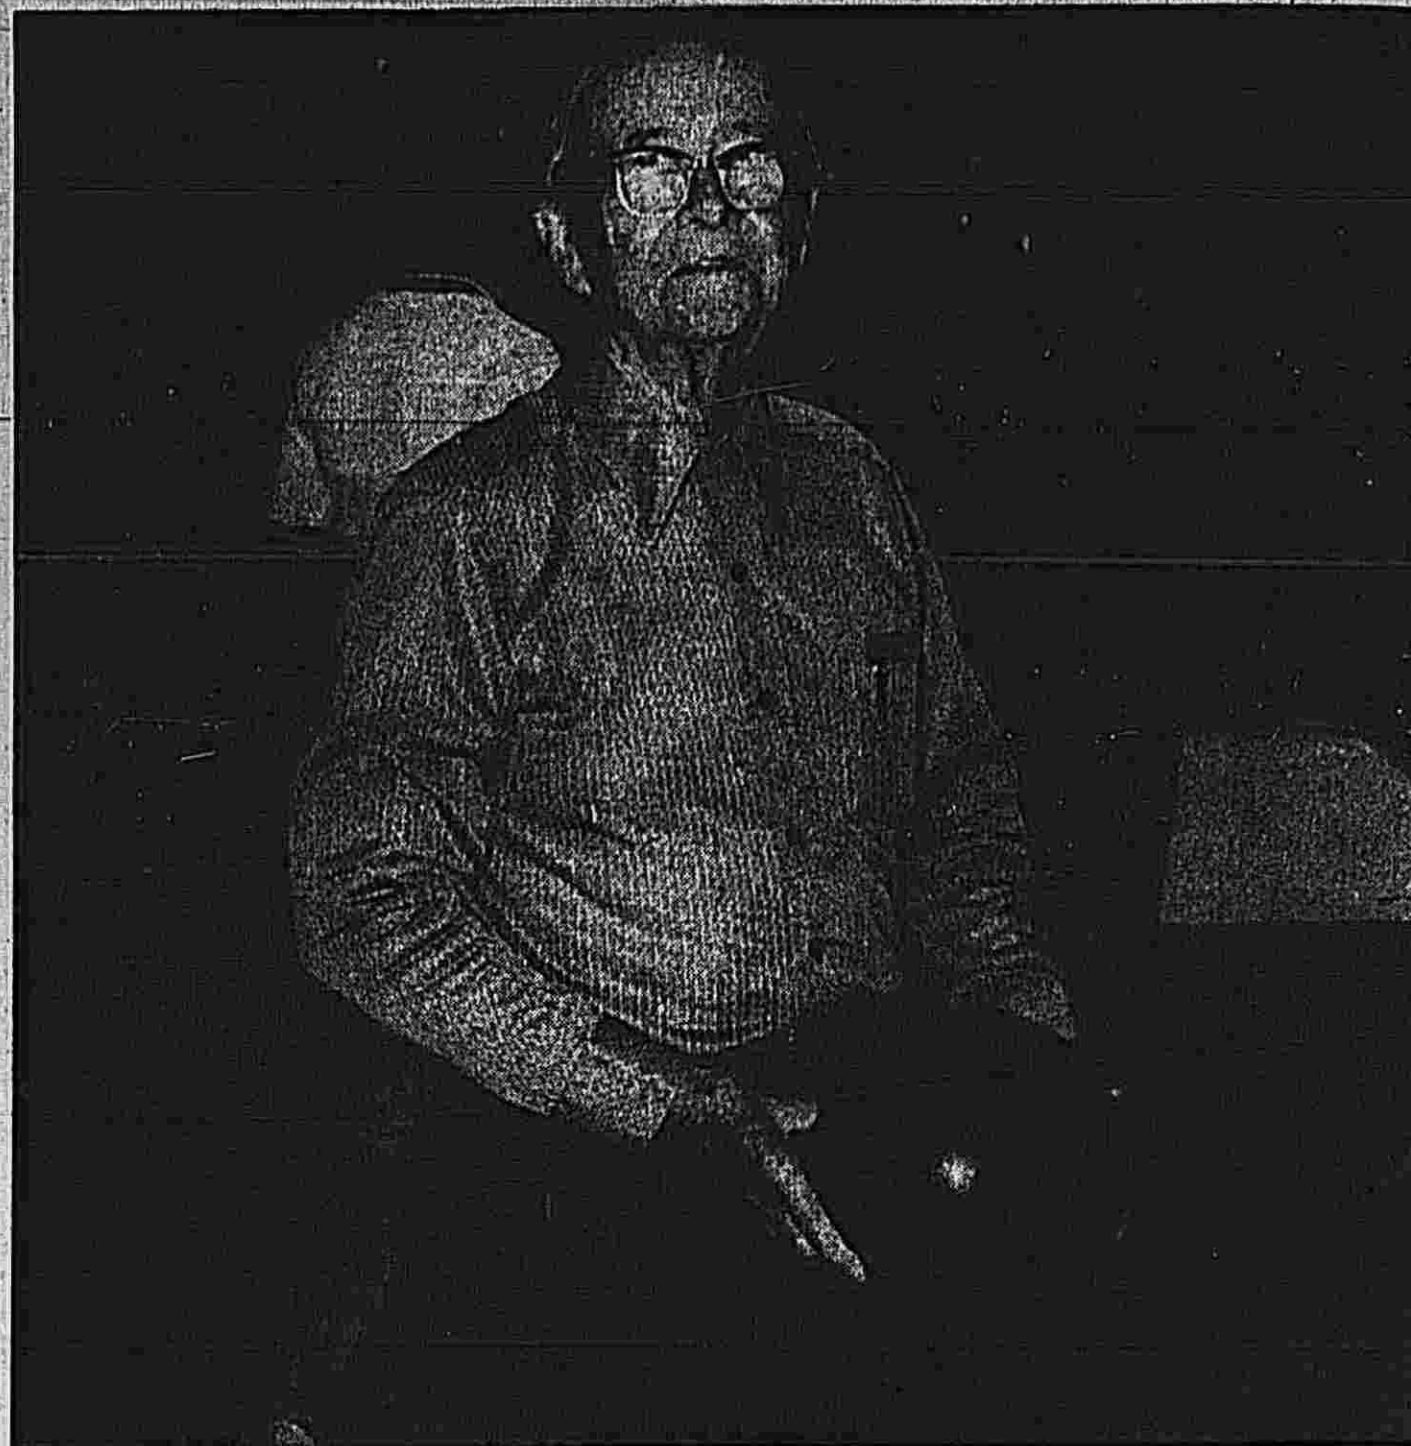

Craig Sheedlo was credited with nine rebounds and Tim Kostakolis had seven as the Sequoits controlled the boards at both ends of the floor. Derek Olson dished out five assists in a good team effort.

In the "B" game the Patriots prevailed 55-44 to even the Sequoits record at 3-3 in conference play and 4-4 overall.

Jeff Kempher and Andy Runyard were leading scorers with 12 and 10 points respectively. Kevin Kovoch added six points and Randy Mower chipped in five.

Coach Prusila praised John Sillionoff, Kempher and Jerry Haling with good hustling defense. Kovoch, Mowen and Haling did a good job on the boards.

Antioch hosts Warren Saturday morning, Jan. 19 to conclude the first round of conference play.

BIRTHDAY WINNER — Valentine McCush celebrated his 94th birthday at the Antioch Bowl with senior citizen's group he regularly bowls with. McCush rolled a 459 series Jan. 4 while bowling with the group.

OUTSTANDING WRESTLERS — Andy Lehn, left, and Steve Case, eighth graders at the Antioch Upper Grade School, are two outstanding wrestlers on the school's team. The upper grade has had a wrestling program for the past five years and has been undefeated three of those years. They placed fourth in state last year and are coached by Ken Anderson and Steve Alberts. — Photo by Lisa Wilkie.
